For Discussion:

College Fellowship Guidelines

- In cases where the fellowship does not pay the entire salary, faculty must use sabbatical leave to supplement their salary.
- After deducting the amount of the fellowship and the sabbatical leave from the total salary, the College will provide a supplement of up to $20,000, depending on availability of funds.
- Not all fellowships will be supplemented. Each request will be evaluated based on the size and the prestige of the fellowship.
- The Dean will supplement a faculty member's salary for fellowships only once every three years.
- Fellowship payments should be paid directly to the individual, not through the University.
